You Can Help Native Bees, Birds & Butterflies

River City Wild Ones Will Show You How

Creating a landscape with gorgeous, easy care native plants is easier than you think. Adding native plants, shrubs, and trees to your garden provides food, shelter, and habitat for birds and beneficial insects. Removing invasive plants, reducing lawn size, and using natural care also helps heal the earth. Even small changes can make a difference. You can do it, and River City Wild Ones can help.

You'll Love Growing Native Plants

Michigan's beautiful native species have lived here for thousands of years. They are your heritage. Do you know them?

Not only do they contribute to biodiversity, native plants flourish without fertilizers or synthetic pesticides and rarely need watering.

Native plants help us celebrate the things that make our region unique, and teach us about the world of nature.

Visit our website RiverCityWildOnes.org for information and educational resources.
